STREET CARS BOYCOTTED

LABOR FEDERATION
CALLS ON 80,000 UNION
WORKERS TO QUIT.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—After a lull of several hours during which cars were moved without molestation on practically all lines, violence was resumed in the traction strike today. Surface cars were attacked at many points. At Broadway and Fourteenth street stones and other missiles were thrown at a drag car and a mob attempted to surface the motorman and conductor from their platforms. One arrest was made. A police automobile carrying a squad of men reached Broadway and One Hundred and Seventh street in response to a riot call only to find that the crew of a car which had been attacked had beaten off their assailants. Officials of the Interborough Rapid Company announced today that preparations had been completed for the prosecution, on the charge of criminal conspiracy, of labor leaders who, without legitimate cause, encourage sympathetic strikes. This announcement followed the Central Federated Union's recommendation for a strike of 80,000 workers in sympathy with the carmen who are seeking to force union recognition from the traction companies. In addition, a general boycott of the transportation lines effected by the strike on the part of the 800,000 union workers in the city has been decreed. If this, together with the immediate strike of the 80,000 men whose work is "keeping traction cars running", does not bring victory to the unions, resolutions passed by the Central Federated Union threatened to call out all of the 800,000 organized workers in this area. Traction officials who have been closely watching developments in the widespread labor agitation and have had asserted at work collecting evidence, lawyers at work they were ready to invoke the full machinery of the law against those who, without justification, might seek to throw the city into a state of industrial chaos in order to win the Transit strike.

It has been known that Transit officials have been keeping a close watch on the labor leaders and have collected a mass of evidence that they are prepared to lay before the district attorney whenever it appears that the proper time has arrived for such action. Reports came from another source that the committee of five, which called upon the mayor and Chairman Straus, of the public service commission last Thursday, as representatives of the Merchants' Association and other bodies also was watching conditions with a view to appealing to District Attorney Swann.

Ernest Bohm, secretary of the Central Federated Union, declared today that 80,000 men whose work was enabling the Transit companies to continue to operate, would go out immediately. Members of the Tidewater Boatmen's Union and the Longshoremen's Union were called upon to strike immediately. Union officials declared that 21,000 machinists would also go out today.

A committee of five has been named to handle the general strike. Early today these men were busily engaged in organizing pickets and sending notifications to all members that the strike had been declared. Beginning tonight mass meetings will be held in Union Square.

Bohm said today that the unions responding to the strike call would be supported financially. Notwithstanding the call of the sympathetic strike, President Shonta of the Interborough ordered that 900 strikebreakers be paid off and discharged today. All of these men were hired as guards for subway and elevated trains. Company officials declared today that they had enough workers to man both of these divisions and were satisfied that the strike had been broken, so far as subway and elevated service was concerned. This company was devoting its efforts to breaking the strike on the surface lines, it was stated.

'ENOCH ARDEN' CASE
HAS HAPPY END

FINDLAY, Sept. 16.—When Mr. and Mrs. William A. Watson left Findlay today for Leona, Wyo., to reside, a modern Enoch Arden story with revisions developed. Watson and Lydia A. Mann were married in this city 21 years ago. Their was not a happy life and they separated three years later. Two years afterward Mrs. Watson read that William Watson was blown to pieces in a western mine explosion. She remarried. Her second husband died a few years later. William A. Watson returned to Findlay last Tuesday, hunted up his wife, again made love to her, and they were again married last night by Rev. L. A. Smothers.

GERMANY OBJECTS
TO BELGIAN LOAN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The German government through Ambassador Von Bernstorff this afternoon served formal notice on Secretary of State Lansing that it would not countenance an American loan to the Belgian government during the German occupation of that nation. Belgian statesmen have been attempting to float a loan for several million dollars in this country with the Belgian state railroads as surety.

MUCH SMOKE BUT LITTLE FIRE CAUSES
GREAT EXCITEMENT

Great excitement was caused in the downtown section of the city at 2 o'clock this afternoon, when the central fire department answered a call at the Holland Building. The only damage resulted to the debris in a chute on the south side of the Holland Building. Smoke pouring out all windows on the north side of the building led spectators to believe that the entire interior of the building was ablaze. However, the use of a number of chemical tanks on the blaze soon extinguished it. Arthur Herrett and Roy Jones who have offices near the opening of the chute in the side of the building were the first to discover the fire.

GRAMM-BERNSTEIN
REORGANIZED; NEW
CAPITAL $4,000,000

Motor Truck Plant is to be Enlarged and Force
Increased.

The Gramm-Bernstein Company of this city, manufacturers of high grade worm drive motor trucks, fire apparatus, etc., have found it necessary to re-organize in order to properly take care of their rapidly increasing business. Additional factory buildings are needed while work on a beautiful office building will be commenced within the next few weeks. The new company, known as the Gramm-Bernstein Motor Truck Company, is incorporated under the laws of the state of Ohio with a capitalization of $4,000,000, $3,000,000 of which is common and $1,000,000 preferred stock, all shares having a par value of $10 each. B. A. Gramm and M. Bernstein, both prominent in Lima's industrial affairs, who have so successfully built up the business during the past few years, will hold a controlling interest in the new company. It is understood that the re-organization has netted both Gramm and Bernstein a handsome financial reward for their past work. M. Bernstein will continue as president and treasurer; B. A. Gramm as vice president and general manager. (Continued on page five)

THIRTEEN MUNITION
WORKERS BLOWN TO PIECES BY BLAST

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 16.—From the ruins of the wrecked plant of the Aetna Chemical company at Oakdale, destroyed last night by the explosion of a T. N. T. mixer, searchers today took the mangled remains of 12 munition workers. Another died at the Allegheny general hospital as a result of his injuries, bringing the death toll up to 13. Superheating of a highly explosive mixture known as "T. N. T." or trinitro-toluol, used in charging shells is said to have been the cause of the disaster. Pieces of bodies hanging to telegraph wires, bits of human flesh scattered for one hundred yards about the plant, human hands and feet lying about and parts of bodies sticking up with every strike of the pump, were the gruesome sights encountered by the workmen searching the ruins today. Identification of the bodies will be impossible. The bits of bodies are being collected in a huge basket by an undertaker. A hand of Night Superintendent B. R. Dadds, identified by the ring it bore, was found several hundred feet from the scene of the explosion.

BELLEFONTAINE—When 1,100 volts of electricity from a high tension wire struck Stephen Gregg, employee of the Bellefontaine Bridge factory, he was on top of a tall transformer tower. His body was almost cooked by the shock and his clothes were burning when workmen reached him. He is fatally injured.

Drive Germans

TEUTON RALLIES REPULSED

Servians Pursue Bulgars On Macedonian Frontier and Have Captured City of Florina

ROME, Sept. 16.—Monastir, the base of the Bulgarian army in western Macedonia, is reported to have been evacuated by the Bulgars.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—Following their continued drive against the German Somme front yesterday, British troops continued to "nibble" at the Teuton lines during the night. These minor operations were also successful, the war office announced today. The statement announced the repulse of two German counter attacks and says that the British line now runs 500 yards to the north of Highwood, between Fleers and Combes and that the villages of Courcellette, Martinpuich and Fleers are entirely in the possession of the British troops.

2 FATALLY HURT
AS PENNSY MOTOR
ENGINE CRASHES

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Two persons were fatally hurt and a score or more persons were badly shaken up today when an electric motor engine taking the cross-over at the entrance to the north tunnel of the Pennsylvania railroad crashed into the flat branch of a six-car passenger train bound for Washington. Confusion of signals or the inability of the brakes of the switch engine to work, it was said, was the cause of the accident. William H. Peartson, conductor of the Washington train was the most seriously injured. Pearson, passing through the coach at the time of the crash, was caught between the steel jaws of the door and wedged in the debris. Among the injured were Frank Cousins, Montclair, broken nose. Florence G. Keenan, Orlando Falls, G. Union, of left leg and broken nose. Patrick Keogh, Center Falls, Ia., contusions of both legs. Charles Calloway, New York, contusions left leg.

FREMONT—Toledo Shriners with their patrol squad and band will come to Fremont, October 2, and be the guests of the Fremont Shrine members and Masonic fraternity.

The war office statement follows: "South of the Ancre on the main battle front, there is no material change. Four German field guns were captured. We took 230 more prisoners. Two local counter attacks by the enemy were repulsed. "We hold the line gained yesterday which now runs 500 yards to the north of Highwood, and includes the whole of the large villages of Courcellette, Martinpuich and Fleers, each twice the size of Guillemont. "Many successful enterprises were carried out during the night at various parts on the rest of the front, we entering the enemy's trenches at many places, inflicting casualties and taking prisoners."

PARIS, Sept. 16.—Fresh counter attacks launched by the Germans in efforts to regain ground captured by the French on the Soame front have been repulsed, the war office announced today.

The unsuccessful German assaults were made to the west of Clercy and at Berny.

The official communique states that the French are consolidating their captured positions.

Enthusiasm prevails here over the success won by the British in their drive against the German front in the region of Bapaume. According to reports reaching here the British have taken 2,500 prisoners.

The Germans captured by the French on the Somme front yesterday numbered 100.

ATHENS, Sept. 16.—Rejecting the suggestion that Eleutherios Venizelos be selected to head the Greek cabinet, King Constantine today appointed M. Calogoropoulos premier.

Calogoropoulos is a leader of one of the Greek political parties and is understood to favor a policy of neutrality.

British Break German Lines at Devil's Wood

By Frederick Palmer.

AT THE BRITISH FRONT Sept. 15 (via London, Sept. 16).—Officers are universally speaking of this as the best day for the British arms since the offensive began. With the exception of that of July 1, this morning's attack was the most extensive during the 10 weeks of the battle of the Somme.

Today for the first time new armored cars of ingenious pattern suitable for crossing trenches and shell holes, competed with the Infantry and today the British swept down from the ridge, onto the lower ground towards Bapaume. At this writing they are beyond the village of Fleers, and they took early in the morning and are establishing in Martinpuich and Courcellette. The slow plodding work of recent weeks which included the taking of Cinchy and Guillemont had for its object the control of all the high ground from the region of Thiépval to the junction with the French on the right. The Germans fought hard for every foot of it. Devil's Wood, the highwood and Rib of Earth, windmill-crowned, beyond Ploeghele have been steeped with blood of men and mixed with flesh of men fallen there with the longest of shell fire in the history of the war as experts agree. German wrestled with Briton not for a piece of farmland, but for the military and human mastery. Today the British advance was largely downhill! They put behind them the high ground where the slopes give them shelter for their guns and whose crest gives them observation for their artillery fire.

Evidently the Germans did not expect the attack, considering that the British offensive was over and that the British would be settled down for winter in their new and advantageous positions.

Never before, probably, were more guns playing over the same length of front than were in use over the six miles where the British made their advance on July 1, and where they have continued their offensive with dogged persistence. The Germans have kept bringing up guns until they have a thousand in this short sector and yesterday the correspondent moving over the region of devastated villages and shell-torn earth, intersected by new roads, saw how enormously the British had increased their own artillery. Sun-tanned and weather-beaten are the gunners after their ten weeks' work. There seemed huns and parks and clusters of guns. Rows of batteries were firing with something like the mechanical workmanship of the needles of a loom weaving cloth. Alongside each other were British and French batteries. Gunners of neither ally could speak the language of the other yet both were going on with their parts, according to charted instructions.

At midnight last night the correspondent, walking again among the guns going on their night shift, saw the gunners' figures illuminated by the flashes. Except for the guns, which know no rest, for the army for the most part, seemed silent and asleep. Everybody and everything was in its place and ready, including these strange and grotesque new armored cars which were to have their baptism of fire in the morning.

"We keep on learning, we of the new army," said one of the young officers, "and with every show we do a little better. Battle is a great teacher." The guns never stop, and their ear-piercing noise from daylight to darkness and from darkness to dawn, only when dawn came, where here and there some key of that ancient piano had been striking a chord, all the keys began to bang at once. But before the general attack began there had been a hellish little preliminary side show near Thiépval. The Germans here had constructed deep dugouts and galleries. Before daylight the British got in there under cover of their gun fire and bombed their way. They hammered their way through the galleries, which soon became catcombs and made themselves masters of the po-

tion after hours of ugly work.

An hour before sun-up on only the British had the time set for the attack. The Germans, who apparently had no idea that the British were coming on in another big push, made a small attack in the neighborhood of Moquer farm. They took a section of trench and they were holding it when the wave of British, six miles long, overwhelmed them, and British reserves in this part of the attack swept over both German and their own men struggling with Germans and reached the objective which had been set for three days work.

A chilly autumn morning mist preceded a day of brilliant sunshine and the actual attack which officers thought was the most brilliant British army ever made. Behind them two British but old second line trench lines which they had struggled so hard to gain, and going against a new third line which the Germans had been building under unceasing British shell-fire. With the infantry went these new motor cars, across trenches and shell craters. So little are they in appearance that British soldiers laughed at them in the midst of the charge and cheered them as they poured their stream of machine gun bullets. Like some prehistoric monsters they must have seemed to the Germans, who were forced to seek safety in flight or hunt their destruction after hours of ugly work.

So far as reports indicate tonight, the British everywhere gained possession of new German trenches, except on the French opposite Cinchy. Here the German fought with desperate courage and with dog-to-bone tenacity to retain that bit of high ground. There he still keeps up the struggle, at last accounts. Again in the highwood he had kept a redoubt nest of machine guns which the armored cars engaged, machine gun against machine gun, while the British infantry passed around it as around a rock in a flood.

One of the prisoners are six colonels. One of these had the honor of being captured by the new wave of men which has added picturesqueness to present day warfare. One of these motor cars which cross the trenches and shell holes, ran over the colonel's dugout. He survived and the crew, who took him aboard and to the crew, who took him over, delivered him to an infantry guard. In one case a hundred Germans surrendered in a body to one of the armored motors. Again, an aeroplane reported one moving up the street of the village of Fleers, while wildly yelling British infantrymen followed. The aeroplanes descended very low during the battles and never were there more fights or vicious ones than those today. Altogether, the British brought down 13 German planes.

ALLIES ACTIVE IN EAST.

Servians Pursue Bulgars on the Macedonian Frontier.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—British troops are continuing their activity on the Saloniki front, according to a war office report issued today. It follows:

"On the Struma our raiders crossed the river and attacked Dzuma Komaja, capturing prisoners. Our mounted troops raided villages on the upper and lower Gudel.

"In the Dolra region our artillery is maintaining a steady bombardment of enemy positions. "Roumanian front.—On the Danube the enemy bombarded without effect Kladova and the village of Davilwood. Weak enemy detachments twice attempted to cross the river, but were driven back.

"In the Dobrudja the advance continues to our advantage. We have taken 21 machine guns. The enemy was driven back with heavy losses."

SALONIKI, Sept. 16.—Pressing forward in their pursuit of the Bulgarians on the western end of the Macedonian front, the Servian army has inflicted another defeat on the retreating enemy and has taken Florina.

The following official report on the Servian operations was issued here today:

"The Bulgarians have been defeated in the region of Florina. They suffered enormous losses. "From Florina the way will be open for a campaign against Monastir, which has been held by the Bulgarians for many months."

Sessue Hayakawa, the noted Japanese actor who will be seen on Tuesday and Wednesday in the new Lasky production, "The Honorable Friend," is a prime favorite with the patrons of the Faurot. His great success in "The Typhoon," "The Cheat" and "Alien Souls" has made him a prominent figure in the world of photodrama, and he has never yet failed to impress his audience. In "The Honorable Friend," which was written especially for him by Elizabeth McGaffey, he has the role of a young Japanese in America, and it is said to be one of the most striking in which he has yet appeared. Hayakawa is surrounded by a typical Lasky cast, including Tsuru Aoki, Raymond Hutton and Billy Elmer, while the photography and settings are said to be in the best Lasky style. With this feature will be shown Burton Holmes' "Climbing the Austrian Alps" and a new edition of the Pathe News.

Irene Fenwick, the gifted and charming stage star who had the distinction of appearing in the leading roles of three big Broadway successes in succession, will be seen at the Faurot on Thursday and Friday in the new Metro production, "The Child of Destiny." It has been arranged especially for the display of Miss Fenwick's peculiar and pleasing talents in "The Song of Songs" she made her first big stage hit in the role of a hoyden who affected boys' wearing apparel, and she is seen in similar character in a number of the scenes in "The Child of Destiny." Later she wears many fine examples of the modiste's art. This feature will be accompanied by a clever comedy, "The Modern Hercules," with Max Figman in the leading role, and new Paramount Pictographs.

stage pictures than any production ever staged in this city before, the Liebler Company's production of "The Garden of Allah," a dramatization of Robert Hichens' novel, by himself and Mary Anderson de Navarro, will come to the Faurot opera house on next Saturday, September 23, for a limited engagement of one matinee and one night.

to the melting pot

The torture of the recreant monk and the battle within him for his soul, as he stands by his desert tent with the wife he has taken, confessing his former life, grips the heart. And no less gripping is the wife who stands beside her mate at the doors of the monastery, her soul wrung with the parting forever and her spirit soaring to lead with gentleness the fateful steps of the man who wavers at the coming sacrifice. William Jeffrey, as the monk, lives his part and he makes his audience live it with him. Sarah Traux as the wife and more than loving mate, gives a powerful portrayal of her part.

The spirit of the desert is in every one of the nine scenes staged during the four acts in which the performance is divided. The scenery has been copied in its minutest detail, from the sandy dunes of the desert and surrounding territory of Northern Africa. It is rich to the point that excites wonder, and in the lighting effects that are marvels of stagecraft, the very atmosphere of the desert is breathed upon and all through the entire play.

The performance opens with a scene that stretches far away across heaps of sand, and with a single star shining through the night, prepares the audience for the startling entrances that quickly follow. A camel, led by its turbaned driver, swings into view, and the faintest edge of the red sun creeps over a nearby dune, and the landscape takes on the tinge of early morning. Then the caravan of camels and donkeys and goats, with a horde of children of the desert pass by winding in and out through the dunes on the way to the oasis in the distance.

Then the breaking of morning and the effects of the lighting, nothing to the imagination, as none of the later scenic displays. Next comes the Ouled Nalles street scene at Brakara, Algiers, and native dancing among the Arabs. Then in the garden scene of the home of Count Aitoul, the dusk of evening enshrouds the palm-studded grounds with a soft light that gives way, in time, to the rising moon, playing a silvery light through the ferns and date trees and across the rippling brook, that is the acme of perfection in scenic grandeur.

Light play that bewilders the onlooker, gives to the next scene, that of a desert storm, that is magnified by the howling winds and the blueish shadows that are swirling loads of real sand which play about the tent of the newly wedded monk and his unknowing bride.

The break of dawn follows a clear night with a myriad of stars faintly lighting the now understanding pair and the dawn is unwelcome to them as it fades the bright spots in the blue heavens.

Then follows the scene of the monastery near Tunis, where the monk bids his bride goodbye and again goes into seclusion.

The strong cast includes Sarah Traux, William Jeffrey, Howard Gould, Thaddeus Gray, James Vasson, Albert Andruss, Leo de Valery and Pearl Gray, together with a host of Arabs, Armenians, Moors, horses, camels, donkeys, goats, pigeons, etc., all doing their parts to help make this the most marvelous dramatic success of today.

The seat sale opens Wednesday morning. Advance orders may be filed at once.

WHERE ARE MY CHILDREN?

A powerful, thoughtful photodrama forcibly presented by Tyrone Power and Company of eminent players is "Where Are My Children?" will be shown for the first time in this city at the Orpheum, commencing Monday Matinee, September 18.

Wherever this silent voice drama has been presented it has delighted thousands with its delicate method of treating a very vital subject, it is impressive and artistic, and forceful withal, and shows several phases of ignorance and evil, and the results thereof.

It has awakened the public in general to the most brutal of all crimes and its common perpetration—that of the murder of unborn babies—and its consequent degradation and suffering. It strikes a vital blow at the selfishness of society women, and extolls the beauties of motherhood.

Clergymen, physicians, social workers and Mothers' clubs are unqualifiedly endorsing it and crowds of thoughtful people are testing the capacity of the theatres at every performance in the cities in which it is being shown.

Three shows daily will be given, 2:30, 7 and 9 p.m.

While the producers are of the opinion that every soul in the world should see this remarkable photodrama, yet, they feel that owing to the daring subject which is handled in a masterly way, that children under 16 years are not to be admitted at any performance, for fear of misinterpretation.

THE REVEREND EDWIN W. TODD, OF TOLEDO, SAID—

"It is a truism that ignorance results in sin and sorrow, while on the other hand, education prevents sin and sorrow. I am delighted with the soul-stirring way in which your film brings the TRUTH home. And yet even the more critical can find no objection to the refined and delicate way in which the theme is handled. It preaches a wonderful sermon against the crime of abortion that is lamentably needed by all classes of AMERICAN society. I wish that everyone could see the picture, 'Where Are My Children?'"

JUDGE BUDROE, OF DAYTON, OHIO, STATED—

"That it was as important for every mother and daughter to see this photo play as it was to go to church, and that its presentation throughout the world would do more good than a whole regiment of Billy Sundays."

UNJUSTIFIED FEARS

While it is gratifying to the average Democrat to witness the spectacle of Charles Evans Hughes offering in his own wild expressions and smoke-drawn arguments ample reasons and assurances for the re-election of President Wilson, there will undoubtedly be many who regret the descent of the dignified jurist to the level of the ward boss. But after witnessing the excited waving of the "bloody shirt" and the shouting of other fears for the nation the conclusion is inevitable that Charlie has something crosswise in his craw.

Hughes has two great fears. One is that the "sectionalism" of the Democratic party will make the south the master of the north, and we are left to infer that a new rebellion is imminent. The other is that the absence of the old-fashioned robber tariff, under the mask of "protection", will lead to a flood of "pauper-made merchandise" which will be dumped in on the United States by Europe after the war.

As for the sectionalism, the Democratic party has been in control of congress since March 4, 1911. The chairman of the leading committees are from the south, for the priority rule has always held sway in the capital. In the south the public keeps a good man in congress when ever one is found, and that is why the committees are headed by southerners—yet what dire result has been noted? Isn't Underwood the superior of Aldrich? Isn't Clayton the superior of Payne? Hasn't Clark excelled Cannon?

As for the "dumping", does Hughes really expect that the crumples and blind men, the shattered wrecks of men hit by the cannons of the Entente and the Alliance, will be able to compete with the undamaged physical manhood of the United States? With ranks depleted, can Europe harm us in trade? With factories all turned into munition plants, can they immediately start to make goods in competition with American factories?

Such a fear must be expressed either in ignorance or in inactivity. As Hughes is so inclined to have some sense, we must assume that he is misinformed. The flood of trade will be the other way. Europe will have to rebuild and America will furnish the material. The end will be Europe's, not ours. Not even Hughes can object to it.

COLONIZING

The following letter, received this morning from a former Wakarusa man in Columbus warns of the methods to which Republicans of the Mark Hanna school of thought are resorting for the purpose of corrupting the coming election:

Suite 213-218 New First Nat'l Bank Bldg., Columbus, O.
Sept. 13, 1916.

Dear Mr. Editor:
Permit me to call your attention to a condition in this state which demands careful watching. Efforts at colonization for purposes of voting are now being carried on. Already a thousand or more negroes from Kentucky have been shipped into Ohio within the past two weeks.

The Democratic state organization is today warning the county organizations to examine registration lists and to be ready to watch the polls on election day to see that the residence requirement of voters is met. On reliable information it is known that one crew has been shipped to Cleveland, another to Marion, Ohio, and still another in the southeastern part of the state. Attention is called to the fact that this shipment is being made from Kentucky into Indiana, Ohio and Illinois, ostensibly for railroad work. From Henderson, Kentucky, 700 have been taken within sixty days, sixty-five were shipped in one day last week over the traction line to Evansville, Indiana. Agents have been among this class offering $3.25 a day for railroad work. Travelers along the railroad report large camps, most of the men engaged simply in cutting weeds on the right of way. Unusual activity has been noticed since the passage of the eight-hour bill.

This simply shows that the Republicans are giving up a state known as hopeless to swing the balance in states they consider close. It is a repetition of the deal of 1896 when votes were bought at so much a head and voters were stampeded. Plotters were boldly voted, one negro later testifying that he had voted five times at various places along one railroad. The object then was to beat Bryan. It was accomplished but the total vote swelled far beyond proportion of voting population.

The purpose, of course, is to now colonize close states for Hughes. These colonists would vote for Hughes wherever they might be, but their votes will count for more in states where there is a possibility of winning the presidential electors.

The facts herein contained are vouched for by a gentleman who offers absolute proof of his statements and his standing. You will find it worth while to view conditions in your county and assist the local county chairman of the Democratic organization in procuring an honest vote at the election in November.

Thanking you for your attention and with kindest personal regards, I beg to remain,

Very truly yours,

CHAS. E. MORRIS.

P. S. This is in with the Herrick expenditure plan of gaining a United States senatorship.

Any man who resides in the vicinity of Lima can see at a glance that there is a sound foundation for believing that there is truth to Mr. Morris' fears. The number of colored laborers working on the railroad and street improvement jobs is large. Those on the street works could not get very far in stuffing the box, but the railroad laborers have an exact chance if their company is in on the game and all railroads want to defeat Wilson.

Lima is a rather small place to try any of the old-fashioned crooked work so familiar in presidential elections, but a little watching will be in order this fall, just the same. And the fact that a colored laborer is mobile and strange negroes difficult to identify lends color to the belief voiced by Mr. Morris.

The Right to Judge Others

By Beatrice Fairfax

A CERTAIN unfortunate test-lesson seems to have taken possession of most of us today. We run about from pleasure to pleasure and from task to task as feverishly as if Satan were driving and, perhaps, he is.

Our restlessness, our ceaseless yearning for something new, our excited craving for entertainment and pleasure has brought us to a pass where we are morbid and neurotic, and none too tactically.

"I don't mean any harm," is a cry that goes up on every side. It comes from the girl who has flirted with a married man and made his wife unhappy and jealous. It comes from the boy who has drifted into a love affair with a girl and has brought disgrace on himself and her and both their families.

It comes from the accused thief who "borrowed" a little money from his firm with the intention of paying it back. It comes from the neglectful mother whose children have gotten into grave mischief while she was away from home seeking amusement and diversion.

"Amusement" and "diversion" seems to be our high gods today. They cause us to rush about madly. And all this feverish rushing about makes us like squirrels in cages. We expend the maximum of energy and get the minimum of result.

If we do not take this feverish desire for change in time we end up in sanitariums or prisons! Yes, it is as bad as all that. Girls are accused by men of not being fine, honest creatures, such as their mothers were. And men are accused by girls of having no respect for good women. And we all indulge in vituperation and mudslinging and say that the world is going to perdition.

The world isn't going to perdition particularly—but we, who inhabit it, are rushing along without thought or guidance and are landing ourselves in a private little hell of our own making.

The best way out is the simplest. Find something worth while and concentrate on it.

If the woman who weakens her moral fibre by gadding about in search of pleasure will treat herself to the joys of the being a homemaker and a helpmate and a true mother, she will find something in life vastly more interesting and satisfying, even if less stimulating, than her highballs and tango teas.

If the man who drives the chariot of his life and his pet racing car at sixty miles an hour in a whirl from roadhouse to roadhouse and pleasure to pleasure will devote himself to being a good son or a kind husband, or a successful member of his firm, he cannot fail to get results a trifle more valuable than a headache next morning and the beginning of diabetes and gout!

The modern unrest is whirling us over the edge of an abyss. It is time we put on the brakes!

PUBLIC FORUM

Editor, Times-Democrat:

The time is at hand when it becomes apparently necessary for the city of Lima and I would say the state of Ohio to come forth with some form of solution that will materially aid in the promotion of tranquility between the negro populace and the white populace. It appears to me that there is nothing that would be of greater service in this direction than the division of them in the public schools. For time immemorial there has existed a prejudice between the two races, especially ardent in northern states where the negroes and whites go to the same school. The reason for this is that the negro children are forced to mingle with the white children and are not taught the one redeeming lesson of race purity. You will find a majority of people in this country of the opinion that the white people of the south utterly despise the negro. This is not true, and the close observer will find that there is more actual hatred existing between the two races in the north than in the south.

Take, for instance, one southern state I have in mind, has a larger endowment fund derived from the sale of her school lands, pledged for the education of the negro than most northern states have for their whole school system. Any negro of the south will testify that a good, peaceful colored family is treated with the utmost respect in the south, the only instance being that they maintain the one essential of race purity.

Dr. Booker Washington, I think the leader of his race, constantly preached to them of race purity and utterly lived the part—trying to instill in his race a personal pride which would inspire them toward maintaining their own race and keeping their blood free from mixture of other nationalities and thereby became great of themselves without aspiring to mingle or mixing with white people.

Now there is only one means by which the desire of a majority of this race—race purity—can be brought about and that is through education of a generation of them to their own ideals, and this can only be done in their own schools. I dare say that most all negroes of Lima would far rather see their children in their own schools than have them as they now are.

There is ample means at law to bring this about, for in southern Ohio they have separate schools and find the problem much nearer a solution than in this country.

It is not my intention that this article shall be construed in any way obnoxious to the colored people of Lima, but rather that it shall be accepted by them as a suggested means of aiding them in establishing themselves upon their own merits and allowing them the privilege to educate their children themselves, thereby assuring adequate instruction for them not divided but aimed at one race.

This is not a practice untried, for certain races of people unquestionably attained their greatness by keeping their strain pure. Of

for all adjacent counties, the biographies of the leading citizens, and amount of bright and interesting comment on the weather.

The weather is a subject of unusual interest in Oklahoma City anyway. A man familiar with the town can tell by the general appearance of the streets whether it has been a good season with plenty of rain, or adrought. When it rains, the cotton grows to the south, the corn to the north, it's a fine year for the cattle to the west, and money pours into Oklahoma City from all directions. But when it is a dry season, Oklahoma City lies low and waits for a change.

The good seasons have been numerous enough, however, to produce a startling amount of prosperity and growth for a city that is scarcely a quarter of a century old. There are still a lot of shacks that were built back in the cattle and Indian days, and there are some of the finest office buildings in the west. There are also bungalows galore, and they are the best bungalows you ever saw. They look as though they had been kidnapped bodily from the paint catalogs and the advertisements in the magazines.

Another thing that will strike you is the number of automobiles and agencies for their distribution. Every make of car under the sun seems to be represented there. The farmers all ride in them now. From which you will rightly gather that the recent seasons have been mostly wet.

BURNS, CUTS, BRUISES

San Cura Ointment Relieves Pain, Draws Out Poison and Heals Promptly.

There is no better remedy for burns, cuts and bruises than the antiseptic and healing ointment called San Cura. Every person ought to have a jar on hand; it is the first and best aid to the injured in case of accident, and is the ideal remedy for so many other distressing and painful ailments besides.

For example, it is guaranteed by Minor M. Keltner to relieve itching, bleeding and protruding piles, eczema, tetter, ulcers, salt rheum, boils, carbuncles and pimples, or money back.

In case of old running sores, no matter how long standing, a few poultices of San Cura Ointment will draw out the poison, and leave them in such a terrorfully aseptic condition that they will heal promptly.

We advise every reader to get a jar of San Cura Ointment, today, and keep it ready for an accident or emergency that may happen. 25 cents and 50 cents at Minor M. Keltner's Enterprise Drug Store on the money-back plan.

SOAP FOR THE SCALP.

San Cura Soap is delightful for shampooing, because it is full of antiseptic properties that banish the germs of dandruff and other impurities from the scalp. It removes pimples and blackheads, too. 25 cents a cake at Minor M. Keltner's Enterprise Drug Store.

OTHER DISEASES PREPARE WAY FOR PNEUMONIA

As soon as the windows start going down the pneumonia death rate will start going up. It is estimated that 10 per cent of the deaths in the United States result from pneumonia. Principally it effects those at the extreme of life, but no age is exempt.

It is invariably a germ disease. The predisposing and exciting organisms are so numerous it would be futile to attempt to list them.

Always in System. Many of them are constantly in the mouths and throats of healthy persons. It is only through the aid which we unwittingly extend to them that they are transformed from harmless organisms to one of man's most powerful enemies. The presence of other diseases is the great predisposing cause of pneumonia. They prepare the soil for the invasion.

When the grip season demands upon us, danger from pneumonia looms greatest, for grip is a gateway for the germs of the former.

Prepare the Way. Inflammation of the upper air passages, pharyngitis, bronchitis and tonsillitis often lead to the development of pneumonia, particularly among the aged and infirm.

The acute contagious diseases of childhood, more especially measles and whooping cough, frequently prepare the way for pneumonia.

How Many Miles of Wire ARE OWNED BY THE LIMA TELEPHONE SYSTEM.

Are you familiar with the size and extent of the local exchange?

Do you realize that there is in this city a plant of remarkable measure?

Did you ever stop to figure out what all was involved in a telephone system?

The chances are that you will answer in the negative without hesitation, and that's a good reason you, as a voter, should know the answers.

In the matter of conductors, the Lima company uses 32.3 miles of underground conduit and 327.02 miles of pole line, a total of 359.32 miles of line. In the form of cables, there are 47.51 miles overhead and 15.27 underground, a total of 62.77 miles of cable. In open wire there are 447.46 miles of copper and 2,145.45 of steel, a total of open wire of 2,592.91, or more than enough to reach from New York to Salt Lake City.

Taking the single wires collected in the cables, omitting thousands of feet of wire in the exchange apparatus and four miles in residences and offices, the total miles of wire operated by the Lima plant will be

6,592.39 in aerial cables

6,646.20 in underground cables

2,592.91 in open wire

making a grand total of 15,831.5 miles of wire involved in the local plant, enough to reach three-fifths of the way around the globe or twice the length of the earth's axis.

Is a system such as that a fit playing for political appointees? Municipal ownership never tackled anything like that.

THE HEART OF ISLAM.

There is a possibility that the Moslem world is on the verge, and that the military power of Turkey can no longer be relied upon. Is this the meaning of the revolt of the Arabs against Turkish domination? And with the breaking of Turkish military power, will not the pride of Islam be so humbled, that a day of new opportunity may dawn for Christianity in Moslem lands? Many are thinking of these possibilities. In the Moslem Sunday school field strong preparations are being made to meet the challenge of the new day that is surely dawning. At the heart of the Moslem educational system, with its university of 10,000 students, a Sunday school mission, and its wife, Rev. and Mrs. Stephen Trowbridge, are manufacturing the munitions for the peaceful conquest of Islam by reaching Moslem childhood through the Sunday school.

LIMA MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION IS FULLY ORGANIZED

At a meeting of the leading business men of the city last night organization of the Lima Merchants' association was perfected. Much enthusiasm was shown when it was predicted that the future growth of the city would be governed to a large extent by the co-operation and close relationship of merchants of Lima.

It was the unanimous opinion of the merchants assembled last night at the Lima club that the use of the trading stamp is a hindrance rather than a help to business. Several merchants stated that the credit system in most of the local stores should be revised. R. B. Dunn, of the Deisel Company, stated that much benefit would be derived from the 30-day credit system.

Other speakers of the evening were: N. L. Michael, R. T. Gregg, J. E. Morris and H. F. Shelton, of Dayton, president of the Retail Dry Goods association. Shelton directed his remarks toward the elimination of the mail order business from the city. He gave this as a way to increase business.

A majority of the merchants signed an agreement toward the elimination of trading stamps from their business after October 1. An attempt will be made to make the meeting of the body a monthly event. Immediately following the speeches an elaborate lunch was served in the club dining room.

SPRINGFIELD.—A reception and banquet will be tendered the Rev. Dr. E. P. Thomson and wife, next Monday night by the Ministerial association. After 25 years service, Dr. Thomson has resigned as pastor of the Second Presbyterian church and goes to Florida for his health.

GRAMM-BERNSTEIN REORGANIZED; NOW CAPITAL $4,000,000

H. O. Bentley as secretary and legal counsel; R. H. Spear as director of sales. Messrs. Gramm, Bernstein and Bentley, the local directors, together with two eastern men, very prominent and influential in eastern financial circles complete the board of directors.

The common and preferred stock will be offered for sale by Walston H. Brown and Brother, 52 Broadway, New York City, one of the highest grade financial institutions in the east, having membership in the New York Exchange since 1878. The shares are to be listed on the exchange very shortly.

Stanchfield and Levy, and O'Brien, Boardman and Platt, two of the most prominent and influential law firms in New York City, have acted as eastern counsel while Squires, Sanders and Demsey of Cleveland, have handled the incorporation in Ohio and Wheeler and Bentley locally. The company is enjoying a most successful season, having exported several hundred trucks to England and foreign countries.

B. A. Gramm, inventor and founder of the business, holds several basic patents covering transmission mechanism, auxiliary driving mechanism, body elevating mechanism, etc., which insure for the new company a continuation of these exclusive features of superior truck design. The chronic troubles of other makes are unheard of in Gramm-Bernstein trucks as the mechanism causing those troubles, are of exclusive design, and in many instances, are guaranteed for the life of the truck.

The company has recently inaugurated an extensive sales and advertising policy, which is attracting the very best truck dealers and salesmen in the country and is a contributing factor in the company's progress.

R. L. Graham, Henry Steink and William Buchanan, of Brockton, Mass., left yesterday for a hunting trip in the White mountains.

The Week In Society

MARIEN NAGLE

AMBITION is synonymous with fall, and we find everything and everybody reaching with their sharp, crisp days of Autumn. There is an electric thrill that goes through us, telling us that we are ready to accomplish the things we had and during the drowsy summer days. So society feels the exhilaration of the fall and begins to plan her activities for the winter months.

There is the younger set preparing to leave their homes for the college and the university. There is the set which stays at home and plans the dance, the dinner and all the things that make a gay season. Coming events cast their shadow before them, you know, and we see many shadows of dances, and dinners and other festivities to be given during the holiday season. Last, but perhaps the most important of all, we have the clubs which are planning their programs. First among these are the activities of the federated clubs of the city, which have done remarkable work in the past, but which have work planned for the coming year that will far surpass any of previous years. The same may be said of the Woman's Music club, which has increased its membership by half, and which is bringing to Lima recitals of a worth that Lima has never before enjoyed. Even the student recitals will be of a higher standard. Shakespeare's departed spirit will be honored in Lima as has never been honored before. Lectures, readings and meetings will take on a new and higher significance. And so on until one would have exhausted the list of the clubs of the city. Each one will reflect in its development this year the growth of the city and the growth of its significance.

A general church social for all members and friends of the Central Church of Christ will be held at the church next Tuesday at 7.30 p. m. There will be a musical program, and an address by Rev. M. B. Fuller, pastor of Trinity church. A social hour will follow the program and refreshments will be served. The committee in charge is composed of A. D. Garris, I. C. Brentlinger, Lloyd Bradley, John T. Miller, Miss Ada Ferrall, Mrs. Harold Smith, Miss Alice Flitz, Miss Myr Meyer and Miss Violet Lewis.

The Cotta class of St. Paul's Lutheran church will hold their meeting on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. James Penney, of 713 Findlay street.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pfeiffer, of 851 West North street, will open their home on next Wednesday evening for the entertainment of the Brotherhood of Calvary Reformed church.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Stolzenbach, of 724 West Market street, will open their home on Thursday evening for a business and social meeting of the Luther league of St. Paul's Lutheran church.

Mr. Timothy Quinlan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Quinlan, of South Atlantic avenue, has returned to the Notre Dame University to resume his studies in Engineering.

Mr. Norton Westlake, of Cincinnati, and Mrs. Leon Levi, of Peoria, are the house guests of Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Neville, of South Metcalf street.

Miss Helen Basinger and Miss Margaret Abrams left today to enter Northwestern University at Evanston, Ill.

Miss Violet Bradley will leave Wednesday for Wells, N. Y., where she will enter Wells college.

A reception honoring the Rev. and Mrs. M. C. Howe, who will leave next week for Springfield will be given at the parlors of the Epworth church Tuesday evening by the members of the parish. A program of addresses and music is being prepared by a committee. All members of the church and friends of the Rev. and Mrs. Howe are cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. D. D. Moser, of Bellefontaine avenue, will entertain the members of the L. S. D. club at her home next Thursday afternoon.

There will be a special meeting of the University club at the home of Mrs. Owen Francis, of South West street, Monday evening.

Carl Neville will leave Wednesday to enter his junior year at the Cincinnati University.

A very pretty luncheon was given Wednesday by Mrs. Ruth Brentlinger at her home in the Empire apartments. Visitors in pastel shades, white used as decorations for the table, their delicate hints were carried out in the place cards. The afternoon was spent with needlework by the guests, including Mrs. P. H. Alberts, Mrs. A. W. Ruff, Mrs. D. R. Miller, Mrs. Harry Long, Mrs. E. L. McElroy, Mrs. R. I. Little, Mrs. Wilbur Little, Mrs. Fred Mosier, Mrs. Herbert Robertson, Mrs. Harry Hildreth, Misses Alice McElroy and Thelma Miller and John Gardner Long and the hostess.

A group of young people gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Beah Graham, west of Hume, on last Friday evening to celebrate the birthday of their daughter, Florence Vivian. The evening was pleasantly spent in different games and music. Later in the evening cake and punch was served. Those who enjoyed the evening with Miss Graham were the Misses Iona Baldwin, Helen Stepleton, Sylvia Schaffer, Mabel Williams, Gwendolyn Bowsher and Vera Redenfelder, of Cridersville. Nina Stein, West Market street, will entertain Mrs. Peters father, Mr. Fisher, of Grand Rapids Mich., over the week-end.

Mrs. Julia Simpson lead the meeting last evening of the Queen Esther Circle of the Trinity M. E. church. Twenty members were in attendance. A musical program was followed, refreshments and a social hour after which the meeting adjourned.

Winter plans were discussed yesterday at the meeting of the Shakespeare club at the City Library. Among the most auspicious plans were those of four lectures to be made public during the season. It is also thought "Henry VIII" Tennyson's "Queen Mary" and Shiller's "Mary Stuart" are the plays that will probably be chosen for study. New members were also considered, the present membership of the club numbering 66. The first regular meeting will be held the first of October with the Rev. Mr. Stiles addressing the members.

At 6 o'clock last evening the marriage of Miss Catherine Lettingwell and Mr. William Sarringer was solemnized at the home of the Rev. A. B. Houze, the officiating minister. The young couple will make their home in the Kensington apartments. Mrs. Darringer is the daughter of Mrs. Evelyn Lettingwell, of North Shore Drive, and is a popular and well known young lady in the city. Mr. Darringer formerly was a resident of Bellefontaine, but has been employed here for some time with the Reed Brothers electric company.

About 20 of the young people of the First Lutheran church were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Stonecker, of 1055 State street, on Friday evening. The occasion was the regular monthly meeting of the Young People's Missionary society. Miss Marguerite Moyer conducted the Bible reading and Rev. W. C. Spayde gave the lesson study. Subject, "Home Missions a Healing Force." Two new members were received. It was decided to prepare and ship a box of useful articles to the Lutheran Mission in Africa. After the devotional and business session, a social hour was enjoyed. Refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hershey, 717 Faurot avenue.

Just why the Louisiana state board of education should have frowned on the use of a school reader containing Mother Goose rhymes is not clear. The reason given is that these jingles belittle the farmer, but whether this is because the cow jumped over the moon, or because Humpty Dumpty had a great fall, is not stated. There is, however, consolation in the fact that some members of the board, though later outvoted, "fought valiantly for the rhymes."—C. S. M.

Opening meeting of the Altruistic club will be held Friday afternoon, September 22, at the country home of Mrs. D. J. Cable. Ft. Wayne cars will leave the Ohio Electric station at 1.15 and members should get off at St. 5. This is Presidents day. Roll call will be "Since Last We Met."

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Maire, Miss Frances Maire and Mrs. J. E. Grosjean leave tomorrow for two weeks motor trip through the east.

Joe Garretson and Warren Catt leave Monday for Kenyon college, Gambier O.

Qualifying rounds will be held Monday at the Shawnee Country club, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday being the days set for the playing. A putting contest will hold the interest Tuesday, while Wednesday will be used for a driving contest. Unusual interest is taken in the tournament this year, for various reasons—some are the standing and ability of the players, the close competition, and the numerous prizes. There are 28 members of the Woman's golf club to compete, and it is expected all will enter.

Mrs. R. W. Thrift and Miss Joseph Agarter meet this afternoon for the final play in the club championship match, the winner being awarded with her name engraved on the trophy cup, which remains at the club. Great interest is shown in this match as the contestants are excellent players and evenly matched.

An important book to be published this month by Houghton Mifflin Company is the Variorum edition of Shakespeare's Sonnets edited by Raymond MacDonald Alden. The text of the quarto of 1609 is printed verbatim et literatim and each sonnet is followed by variant readings and by interpretative notes.

Members of the Missionary society of the Grace M. E. church met at the church parlors Thursday. An interesting program was opened with devotions conducted by Mrs. Benson. Mrs. F. L. Butler and Mrs. John Bushy read two well written papers. Mrs. Regan was elected superintendent of the Queen Esther circle and Mrs. G. A. Herret was elected superintendent of the Home Guard Mrs.

Mrs. Frank Steiner, who has just returned from Mt. Corv, was accompanied by Mrs. Gideon Steiner, of New Orleans, La., who will be her guest for several weeks.

Miss Helen Beilman, of South Junction avenue, has as her house guest, Miss Edith Alene of Chautauque, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Peters, of

Favors of Fashion

Sealskin bids fair to be the most popular trimming fur of the winter. It has been used with distinction on this French coat of taupe-colored velours de laine, which has two collars, one of the seal and below it, a square cape trimmed with seal. The bell cuff, gathered at the elbow, is a notable detail.

There are so many things engaging the attention of the followers of Madame Fashion at present that it is hard to know just which way to turn. Fabrics, dresses, coats, hats, shoes, gloves, colors, all pile up on us and so many reports of the favored come, that indeed we are in a quandary as to which we will choose.

One might choose anything and be in style this season, and yet one might find after she had bought an approved style of the minute, "that it wasn't being worn," after all.

"What shall we do?" asks the woman with moderate means, who has to wear through the season that which she buys. Be conservative," says the well dressed woman of limited means and experience. And truly, that is the only solution of the problem there is, being "conservative."

As for new colors, I want to tell you that the newest color to be launched is yellow, and Missy carries the lovely color into her jewelry, and we see a revival of topaz necklaces, rings, pins and all the accessories. They are even used on girdles for evening and afternoon wear. All shades of yellow are good, orange, topaz, tiger, canary, all pastel shades, but the deeper, richer shades are the more beautiful. This fashion will become the woman who possesses twenty hair. Think of the stunning effect of a black evening gown on such a person, relieved with only a string of topaz.

A little heavier, figuratively and otherwise, are the new coats, which are finding a larger following than ever before. They are made from broadcloth, velours de laine, thick pile velvets, and velvet velours. Then trim with as much fur as the garment will stand and you have a fashionable coat. The above cut shows a typical and stunning model. The favorite fur, sealskin, is used for its trim.

Herret gave a pretty solo. Refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon session by Mrs. A. L. Ranabottom and committee.

Miss Norma Hummell of Wapakoneta, is spending the week-end in Lima with relatives.

Marriage of Miss Bernadina King of Wapakoneta, and Mr. F. Abraham Fulton of Lima, was solemnized Thursday evening by the Rev. Frederick Rupert, pastor of the St. John's Catholic church of Wapakoneta.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony King and is an attractive young lady with a circle of acquaintances.

The groom is a son of R. N. Fulton, residing on South Main street. He is at present employed as a motorman on the Ohio Electric traction line and has his headquarters in Lima.

A home had been prepared for the bride by Mr. Fulton and they will be at home to their friends at 688 North West street, Lima.

Woman's Board of Managers will meet Wednesday morning at the City hospital, at 9 o'clock.

In "The Cambridge Songs" a book of unusual value to students has been produced by Dr. Karl Bruehl, professor of German in the University of Cambridge. Edited from the unique MS in the university library, the work gives to the world a song book of a Goliard or wandering cleric of the eleventh century. The metrical forms of the poems are as varied as the subjects.

Miss Katherine Boegel of North West street, will entertain several of her high school teachers at her home tomorrow at dinner. Among the guests are Miss Nettie Snook,

Miss Mary Jones, Miss Zella Foster, Miss Druella Reilly, Miss Blanche Andrews, Miss Nelle Boyer, Miss Elizabeth Brice and Mr. S. S. Steffens.

Members of the Mercy circle of the King's Daughters will meet Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. M. P. Colt of West Market street. All members are urgently requested to be present.

Y. M. C. A. WORKERS TO VISIT SUNDAY SCHOOLS TOMORROW

In the Sunday schools tomorrow, the announcement of the Y. M. C. A. policy will be made by members and directors of the Association. They will lay stress upon the coming membership campaign, in which the association will try to receive into its membership three hundred new men. The assignments at the various churches are:

Trinity, P. Read Marshall; Olivet, G. A. Herrett; Spring Street Lutheran, A. S. Chenoweth; Grace M. E., Elmer McClain; Central Church of Christ, H. L. Hopper, Market Street Presbyterian, C. V. Stevens; First Baptist, Earl Rohn First Christian, Glen H. Davis; Epworth, H. M. Rooney; Calvary Reformed, Frank Hackman; German Reformed, Frank Eberhart.

It is expected that the teams that are to take part in the campaign will be present Tuesday night at the campaign opening banquet. Every team represents an automobile assuming the name of some particular make. Two high school teams are at present intense rivals, one driven by Carol Cheney in a Paige, and the other by Virgil Verbyrie, in a Chalmers.

MARITAL TROUBLES APPEAR IN COURT

Two more divorces were added to the long string of cases telling marital woes of various couples, in court today and yesterday afternoon.

Ova Rhoades, after being married less than a year to Raymond Rhoades, today sought a divorce. That he has continually abused her since their marriage on November 1 of last year, called her vile, profane and indecent names, struck, beat and kicked her is the claim made. She says his conduct is such she is unable to longer live with him. In the petition, she asked for the restoration of her maiden name of Ova Petty.

The husband was the complainant

In the case yesterday afternoon when Owen D. Meekling asked to be divorced from Mary Mudd. They were married on July 2, 1909, and have a son 4 years old. He says she refused to perform her household duties and failed to give attention to the child. He claims that as late as August 19 of this year she struck him with a club. She is now living in Licking county. The couple previously lived on St. Johns avenue.

Mrs. Eliza Kneer today asked the court to dismiss the divorce proceedings she instituted against her husband, Charles J. Kneer, on August 14. They lived at 1074 1-2 Tanner avenue.

Mrs. Mary J. Trowel, of 525 East Vine street, was today granted a divorce from George Trowel, who did not appear in court. Gross neglect of duty was the grounds on which the decree was granted. She was restored to her former name and will pay the court costs.

SPENCERVILLE HAS $4000 FIRE; VILLAGE RECORDS BURNED

Damage by fire, to the extent of more than $4,000, was the result of a blaze at Spencerville this morning. The harness store conducted by Gail Henne and his son George, was partially destroyed, with the loss of part of one of the largest harness stocks in this part of the state.

Fixtures in the office of Mayor A. L. Fry, who occupies the second story of the Henne building, were destroyed, along with many records, some of them the oldest in the office.

The fire started about 7:30 o'clock this morning, the cause being ascribed to a defective flue or to a case of imperfect wiring. More than an hour and a half were needed to gain control of the blaze, and it was 9 o'clock before the flames were under control.

The damage was chiefly to the harness stock, but the building was burned in the front half to such an extent that it will have to be torn down. In the office of Mayor Fry the damage was partially the result of the water thrown on the building, and the official documents of the corporation were in danger. Some of the older city books and the private papers of Mr. Fry, a notary, were consumed.

Only about one-fourth of the loss will be covered by insurance.

SAVANT SOLDIERS FIND TIME TO ARGUE GRAMMAR

BERLIN, Sept. 10.—A German

war correspondent tells a story of which Professor Dr. Otto Kohn of the University of Goettingen is the hero. The famous scientist and writer serves as a first sergeant in France. Recently he had to escort a number of French prisoners from Metz to Germany. Between Brussels and Cologne a lieutenant found him in a hot quarrel with one of the prisoners. Both men were gesticulating and shouting wildly and the lieutenant, fearing a fight, considered it necessary to separate them.

The officer, however, laughed heartily when he learned the cause of the quarrel. The French prisoner, whose torn shoes were tied together with strings, was a professor of the Sorbonne in Paris and had gotten into a scientific argument with his learned escort over the use of the conjunctive in the songs of the ancient romance troubadours.

LIMA'S MOST POPULAR GARMENT DEPARTMENT.

Never Before Have Fall Suits Been So Attractively Varied

Any fear you may have that styles in the new Fall Suits are not diversified enough, will vanish the moment you see our displays.

Every possible mode of fashioning is portrayed with a bewitching newness and beauty, in such materials as Poiret twills, gaberdine, fine poplin, men's serge, chiffon broadcloth and velvet, with colors of African brown, navy, Burgundy, black and plum.

They come with semi-fitted jackets, neatly trimmed in beaver, plush, seal and other favored furs, with dainty button effects on the jacket and skirt. Most of them are lined throughout in durable silks.

Many women will come in and make their choice early to insure the best selection.

Moreover, a rising market is not unexpected, and it is quite doubtful that you will be able to buy so advantageously at a later time of the season.

We courteously suggest that you choose your new Fall Suit sometime during the coming week; then you will have a full season's use while the styles are new and admired.

Prices range from $15 to $100.

Special Assortment at $17.50, $25.00, $35.00

Hints for the Housewife

Some good menus for the Sunday meals are given below. They are simple, easily prepared, seasonable and reasonable:

Breakfast.
Grapes
Omelet a la Creole
Buttered toast
Cocoa
Dinner.
Tomato Bisque
Celery
Roast Veal
Potatoes
Baked Corn
Pear Salad
Rolls
Lemon Meringue Pie
Coffee
Supper.
Oyster Fricassee
Stuffed Cold Tomatoes
Ice Cream
Coffee
Omelet a la Creole.

One-half can tomatoes, one-fourth pound fat bacon, two tablespoons chopped onion, one teaspoon chopped red pod pepper. Stew to a mash. Put a tablespoon of sauce in center of the omelet before folding. Garnish with mushrooms, pour remainder of sauce around the omelet on the platter and serve very hot.

Baked Corn.
Put in a well-buttered pan a layer of corn, a little butter and salt, then a layer of cracker crumbs, and repeat until the pan is full, with a layer of corn on top. Pour over it one-half cup of sweet milk. Bake it in a hot oven 20 minutes.

Pear Salad.
Bartlett pears halved, sprinkle with celery hearts cut fine and chopped nut meats, a little sugar and salt. Mayonnaise whipped with cream.

Oyster Fricassee.
Place one teaspoon of butter in a saucepan and, when hot, add to it

one-quarter of a level teaspoon of salt, half the quantity of cayenne pepper, and a few grains of mace. Put in one dozen large oysters, well washed and drained, and cook only until they are plump. Lay them on a chop plate, add a half-cup of cream to the liquid in the saucepan, pour this over the oysters when hot, and serve at once.

Stuffed Cold Tomatoes.
Select as many ripe tomatoes as desired, remove skin by dipping in hot water. Hollow the center, saving the solid part for the filling. Place shells on ice several hours before serving. When ready to serve fill with a salad made of cucumbers, grated onion, chopped celery, the solid part of the tomato saved, beets, diced fine. Mix ingredients with mayonnaise which has been whipped with cream. Fill shells, top with a little drab of mayonnaise and serve.

The Tidy Returns.
It is interesting to watch the older fashions return. A year ago, to have seen a tidy on the back of a chair in any lady's parlor would have smacked of the days of the revolution. Now, among the newest ornaments, are the old antimacassar chair and arm-backs done in some new shapes, but the same in general idea.

They acquired their name in the days when women oiled their hair with Macassar oil. These were called antimacassars because they were invented to save the backs of the furniture. They were in use from revolutionary times until just before the civil war, and have lingered in out-of-the-way places since that time, but soon they will appear among the smart ornaments of the drawing room.

They will be mostly of lace with conventionalized patterns.

Costica Is No Match For Darcy Australia Bout

By Frank G. Menke. NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Snowy Baker, the Australian promoter, comes along with an amusing story concerning a Romanian battler who went to Australia to meet Monsieur Darcy—and nearly died of fright when the opportunity offered.

Alva Costica was his name. "Little Baker" he came to Sydney heralded as the fighting wonder of Europe. He boasted of victories over most of the best battlers in that part of the world. And nothing would do but that I should match him with Les Darcy. So I did.

All during the preliminary training Costica was boasting about what he would do to Darcy. Up to that time he thought Les was a shine. The was due largely to the fact that Red Watson, an American fighter, was kidding Costica by telling him Darcy was a joke.

Costica's Pals Grow Chilled. But when the time drew near for the fight, Costica began to learn the truth about Darcy. He came to understand that Darcy was a pretty good scrapper. He hurriedly looked up Darcy's record and when he studied it thoroughly all his courage seemed to ooze away.

A day or so before the fight, Costica claimed he was "very sick." A doctor examined him and pronounced him in perfect physical condition. At 2 a m on the Saturday of the fight, Costica was missing from his bed. His trainer began a search for him. Costica was captured in the woods near his camp, streaking it in an opposite direction.

The boys hustled Costica back to his camp and the doctor was called again. He said Costica was suffering from nothing but fright and worry over the coming fight with Darcy. The doctor "prescribed" for him. He gave him strychnine but I didn't know about it until some time afterward.

"Fearing he might try to make another get-away before fight time, the manager of Costica, after giving him strychnine, locked him in a room, then nailed shut the door and double-barred the windows. Costica was kept there until that night when he was liberated only to be led into the ring.

Flops Without Being Hit. "I never have seen any man so frightened as was Costica when he was rushed into the ring. He cast one glance at Darcy who was in his corner—and nearly fainted. Several times it seemed as if he was on the point of jumping from the ring and bolting for the exits. But his manager was too close.

Finally the gong banged. The fight was on. Darcy walked to the center of the ring, calmly, confidently. The shivering Costica had to be pushed there. At once he backed away. Darcy followed him—and Costica backed faster and faster. At last, Darcy figured he had cornered Costica. He started a swing out the bowl never landed. Before it could reach his mark Costica dropped to the mat. The crowd was bewildered—and so was the referee. Costica's manager yelled for him to get up. But Costica seemed quite contented where he was. He refused to budge until the referee had counted him out. Then he got up feeling safe from any on-slugs.

"Costica, of course, was disqualified for all time in Australia."

Darcy's Record. Baker sent a booklet showing Darcy's record from 1912, when he began fighting, until April of this year. Summarized, it is as follows:

Won by knockout, 17; won decisions, 31; won on fouls, 1; lost on fouls, 1; lost on decisions, 3; total fights, 32.

Darcy lost his first fight in November, 1913, on decision to Bob White, law in 20 rounds. His second defeat came at the hands of Fritz Holland, in 20 rounds, which marked his first appearance in Sydney. The third loss was to Jeff Smith, the American. In the fifth round of that fight Darcy claimed Smith fouled him. The referee ignored the claim. Darcy finished the round but refused to come out for the next. The fight then was awarded to Smith.

Listed among Darcy's most important victims are Gus Christie (decision, 20 rounds); Eddie M.

Races At Lima Park Are Near

Two more entries have been received by the management of the auto races, which increases the entry list to eight. Some of the fastest cars and drivers will be seen here to contest for the lucrative prizes of the Allen county fair board.

Most Lima fans are acquainted with Bill Dowty, Bluffton, Ind., who won the 25-mile race here on the Fourth of July. Herbert Rudy, who won the Chamber of Commerce cup will also compete. Rudy recently had an accident in Warren, Ind., where he was racing Bill Dowty and other Indiana drivers. Rudy, however, has rebuilt his car and is working hard to win everything here on the 26th.

Charles Mowery, who drove the Stutz racer on the 4th and went through the fence when he was leading in the 10-mile event, is also entered.

There will be three races at Driving park. A five-mile free-for-all; a ten-mile free-for-all, and a fifteen-mile free-for-all. The races will start promptly at 1:30 and Dale Armentrout, local A. A. driver will do the official starting.

Brooklyn Adds Just Half Game

BROOKLYN, Sept. 16.—Brooklyn won a race against an imminent rain yesterday and, by beating Pittsburgh 8 to 1 in five innings, increased their lead over Philadelphia to two full games. Eight hits, including a home run drive by Wheat with the bases full, netted the Superbas eight runs in the second innings.

Marquard was in great form after the first inning, in which a single, a sacrifice and a double gave the Pirates their run. Mowrey had just fled to Schulte for the second out in the fifth when the rain fell in torrents and after a wait of 30 minutes, Umpire O'Day called the game because of wet grounds. Score:

Gas Boys and Fire-Men Play

A picked baseball team from the office and working force of the Lima Gas company is scheduled to meet the fast firemen team this afternoon at the College grounds at two o'clock.

The contest has been a long talked of affair and the boys intend to settle the dispute by today's game. Records show that the fire laddies have annexed four victories and Cleveland dropped three games this season, while the Gas boys cannot boast of any record, this being their first game as a reconstructed organization.

Hennessy will be on the mound for the Gas boys with Pringle doing the receiving. It is not certain who will compose the batteries for the fire eaters but it is likely that Lovet and Stevens will do the heavy work.

SHORT SPORT

Brooklyn won a double victory yesterday. They beat the weatherman and then the Pirates.

The victory placed the Dodgers two full games ahead of the Phillies and three ahead of the Braves.

Today begins another one of their series that makes the fans' blood boil. The Red Sox and White Sox clash in the Windy City.

While the Sox people are battling, the Tigers will have easy picking on the Mackmen.

Commish Plan For the Final

CINCINNATI, Sept. 16.—The annual draft completed, many baseball men scattered to their homes today to prepare to close the season. Members of the national commission stayed behind and will go over plans for the world series.

Connie Mack and Charles Comiskey were the biggest drafters. The Philadelphia manager put in bids for 26 and drew 12. Comiskey drew 14. Seventy-four men were picked all told. Of this number the American league drew 47 and the National 27.

St. Marys Team After Vengeance Here Tomorow

The St. Marys and Independents club will line up against each other to definitely decide the championship of Allen and Auglaize counties. As the locals have a grip on the title, there is little doubt but that they will fight to the last to make use of his advantage by winning the Sunday contest.

The latest tip from St. Marys is to the effect that the team is being bolstered up and will have a different appearance than the nine that was seen here last Sunday. Neither expense nor trouble has been spared in the attempts of the management to strengthen the team.

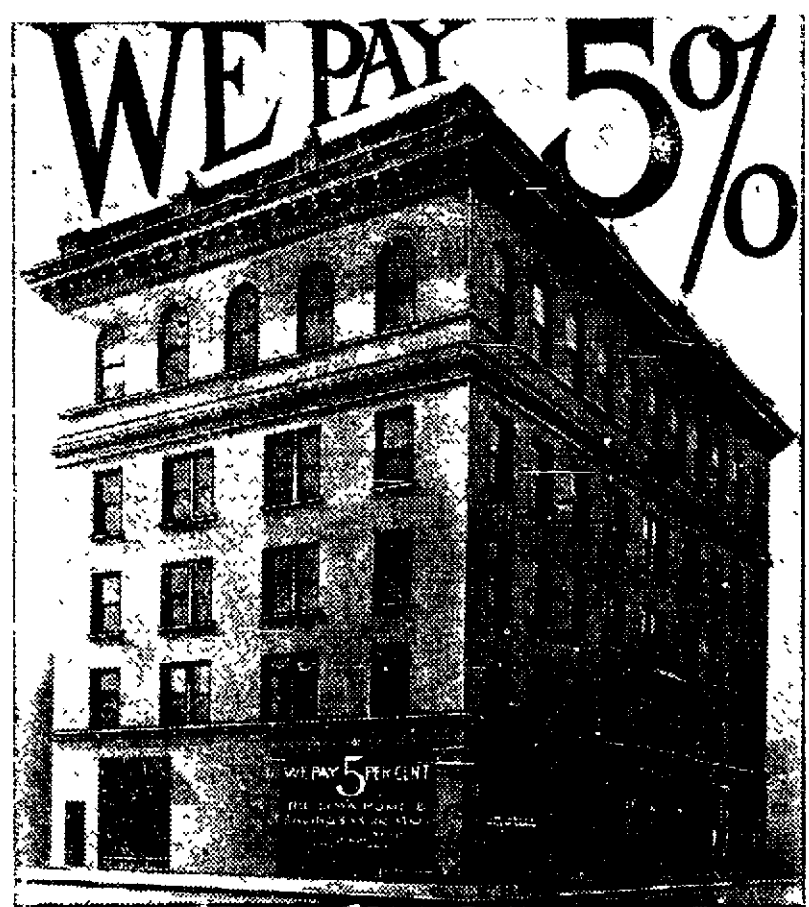

Probably one of the most important changes that will be made is in the substitution of Boal for Wilson. Wilson did the receiving in the game here last Sunday and although considered one of the best backstops in the country, he has not been playing up to his usual standard for the past few weeks. Boal was formerly catcher in the Dayton league team "Chick" Wise of Tipppecanoe City will hold down the position of shortstop instead of Darido, who will be seen in action around the Keystone sack. Baxter, who played second base last Sunday will not appear in the line-up. Lefty Houtz, the Wapakoneta, cloutier, will be stationed in the left garden for the visitors. Owing to his ability as a heavy hitter he likely will prove valuable to the

Meets Equal

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Kid Williams, the bantam-weight champion, struck a young tornado in Dick Loadman of Lockport here last night and almost lost his title. Loadman forced the fighting all the way and had Williams hanging on in several rounds. The battle was a ten round affair and full of go all the way.

Big Match

CINCINNATI, Sept. 16.—William Johnston, former national champion, and Willis E. Davis, clay court champion, will meet here today for the tri-state championship. Both are San Franciscans. Johnson is the favorite.

BUYING ADVANCES WALL ST. PRICES

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—There was little chance to execute buying orders in the railway issues at anywhere near yesterday's final figures at the opening of the stock market today. Opening sales of Union Pacific were recorded as 5,000 shares at 147 1/4 to 147 1/2 against 146 1/4 at the close yesterday and in the next few minutes sold up to 147 3/4. Initial sales of New York Central were 1,800 shares from 108 1/4 to 109 against 108 1/4 yesterday. Erie was in good demand first sales being recorded as 1,700 shares from 39 1/4 to 39 1/2 against yesterday's final of 38 3/4.

Southern Pacific, which closed yesterday at 100 1/2 rose to 102 and good gains were recorded in many other issues in this group. The buying movement in Western Union disclosed a scant supply of stock, and within a few minutes it advanced 2 1/2 points to 101 1/2. Diggs Seabury continued its upward movement, selling at 115, a gain of 5 points. The high record of U. S. Steel was again lifted, with an advance of 1/4 to 107 1/4. Higher levels were also established in nearly all the other steel industrials. Railway Steel Spring advanced a point to 55 1/2 and Lackawanna Steel 1/4 to 86. Crucible Steel, after declining 1/4 to 93 1/2 rose to 95.

At the end of the first 15 minutes trading buying continued vigorous with advances established in many issues.

MUSEUM TO SHOW EVOLUTION OF THE LAMP AMONG MEN

Exhibit Will Have Fire-
brand That Prehistoric Man Used.

Animals' Skulls Used and Greased Stick Pre-
ceded Candle.

By Frederic J. Haskin.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 16.—A collection of all the various illuminating devices used throughout the history of the world is now being prepared by Dr. Walter Hough of the National Museum here, and will be placed on exhibition as soon as space can be found for it.

Stored away in large air-tight cabinets in Dr. Hough's office is the complete record of man's development as shown by his lighting apparatus from the days of the primitive campfire to the present Tungsten filament. Here is the first and
by which our aboriginal ancestor
transferred fire from tribe to tribe;
here is the animal's skull which constituted the first attempt at a lamp, and the greased stick that was superseded by the candle. A part of the collection is already occupying
three cases in the museum where it
attracts a great deal of attention
among visitors.

The story told by this collection
is a most unusual one. According to the museum authorities, it was
some time before man began to pay any attention to fire at all. It was all about them—in the volcanoes, in the lightning and in the friction of the tree branches—but they took no more account of it than did the animals. Then someone man, a little more intelligent
than the rest, recognizing its power,
undertook to conserve a supply of fire from one of these sources, and
finally distributed it by firebrands
throughout the land. Thus began the campfire age, which is represented
in the museum collection by a picture, and by firebrands of every description belonging to every period.

Towards the end of this campfire
period, man began to display ingenuity. He got tired of traveling long distances with blazing sticks that often burned his fingers, and he got tired of going to war with other tribes who stole his fire. He tried dipping the sticks in resin and fat,
which made them burn longer, but even this was unsatisfactory. The age demanded an invention and it came at last. Some ancient Edison discovered that by putting a lot of fat in a hollow stone or sea shell or animal's skull and placing a wick in
it he had a device which would burn
a long time. This was the primitive beginning of the lamp. Often, the whole body of a fish or bird was used. In the part of the collection
now on exhibit in the museum there is a stormy petrel, with a piece of fiber in its mouth, which acted in the nature of a wick. This bird's body was composed largely of fat
and would burn for hours.

The next step in man's development is represented in the collection
by a number of odd curved stone
slabs supposed to be lamps which were used in the stone age. Fat or grease was poured into these stone
dishes and a circle of moss strewn
around the edge to act as a wick.
Lamps of this kind are still found in
use among primitive peoples.

By this time man had become familiar with fire, and had even tried a few experiments with it. One of these resulted in pottery, and pottery lamps became the rage. At first they were simple little bowls
with a slight twist in the edge to hold the wick, but gradually they developed elaborate patterns with the growing talent of the potters, until
they somewhat resembled tiny tea-
pots, with a spout in the side for a wick and a hole at the top where the oil was poured in. The museum's specimens of this type of lamp are especially remarkable, many having been sent in from all parts of Europe
and Asia, displaying the most ancient craftsmanship and design. A hundred or more such lamps were sometimes required to light one room, and although the people were ingenious enough to invent a perfume for the oil, according to Dr.
Hough, the place must have smelled
like a butcher shop on fire. A dilapidated old lamp containing some of this early perfumed oil is one of the most prized specimens in the museum's collection.

Then came copper and bronze, and
the lamps assumed a new symmetry
and design as civilization and mechanic arts progressed. Pottery lamps were soon out of date, and brass and copper lamps began to ornament the houses and churches,
tacked to the walls and suspended
in chandeliers. It is Dr. Hough's personal belief that the famous lamps which Aladdin's mother gave
to the peddler was a pottery lamp,
and the new one she received made
of copper.

The next step in lamp architecture
was iron, and many were the curious designs wrought in this metal.
An occasional iron lamp from Italy
or Spain is always being discovered
by some explorer for antiquities who sends it to the museum. But all this time, although various metals had been discovered and applied to lamps
there was no improvement whatever
in the mechanism itself. The glass

age had superseded iron for some time before Argand discovered the method of putting oil in a small reservoir and forcing it up through a wick and then covering it with a chimney. This, which was the first real lamp, as we know it today, made its appearance about 1784.

Following this in came the discovery of kerosene and gas, and
new fixtures were developed along new lines. So far the collection ends with the Weisbach burner, which is the most recent improvement for gas
illumination, and the Tungsten filament for electricity. In the one case
now on exhibition in the museum
there are over 24 different specimens of lamps representing the various stages of civilization, but these are only the beginning of a collection which is to be one of the most extensive in the world. The number of candles and candlesticks alone
would probably fill five or six cases,
for there were improvements in this type of illumination throughout the ages the same as in lamps. The origin of the word candlestick is shown
in two or three of these specimens
which are carved sticks of wood
with a small brass dish at the top.

Ultimately, Dr. Hough hopes to broaden the collection into a complete history of fire rather than a history of illumination alone.

Among his present specimens are
many curious old stoves and bellows and foot-warmers and one curious which is said to be the only one in America. It is the popular opinion in this country that the curfew
was a bell, but instead it is a sort
of brass lid which was used to cover
the fire. At one time in England a law was passed requiring every light to be out at a certain hour in the night, presumably 9 o'clock, and in order to comply to the letter of this law people had to suppress their fires. Thus the hour when the fires were covered with the curfew came
to be called the curfew hour.

One time in traveling through a street in Mexico Dr. Hough came upon a peddler who had a singular
little tin lamp among his goods. Dr.
Hough immediately bought it and later inquired into its use. It turned out to be the type of lamp used
by the Mexicans in hunting snails.
Another time the doctor was traveling through a railroad tunnel in Italy when the train was held up
while some repair was being made.
He observed that the laborers used a peculiar kind of torch different from any he had seen before. He quietly got out of the train and, it must be admitted, stole one of the torches.
Later, when he was able to look the matter up, he discovered that the torch, which was made of a greased
piece of twisted rope, was the same kind that was carried by the Italic boys of early English history. It is now a valued specimen of the collection.

In nothing else, perhaps, is the progress of the race from the dawn
of understanding to the present day
so evident as in this history of illumination. After all, the race is very young. Our grandmothers used
the same sort of lamp, with very little difference, that was used in the days of the pyramids, and as late as 1875 when the Centennial Expon-
sition was held in Philadelphia a kerosene lamp of a common type, with a Liberty Bell as its base, was pronounced the highest triumph of modern illumination. Apparently,
the greatest progress has been made in the last 10 or 15 years, but who knows what another ten years may bring forth? The Tungsten filament may yet look medieval.

PIONEER SOCIETY SELECTS OFFICERS

Election of officers of the Elida Pioneer society, postponed from the annual meeting on August 10, has been held and Hon. N. W. Cunningham of Bluffton, was elected to the presidency. He had previously served in the capacity of first vice president. He takes the place of Dr. C.
B. Stenon, who died last November.

A. J. Sherick, of Elida, was re-elected secretary, and E. Owen, of Lima, historian. William Rustler, S.
W. Wright, F. E. Harman and J. L.
B. Leathermann were continued as vice presidents.

Members of the executive committee are Joseph Brower, W. W.
Crites, W. D. Poling, Eli McBride,
John G. Roberts, James Baxter, Jr.,
Henry Desenberg, J. H. Sawmiller,
Delbert McBride, J. C. Jones and S.
D. Crites.

It was decided to hold the next meeting of the association the second Thursday in August, 1917.

STENOGRAPHERS WANTED.

We have at the present time six

Sloan Liment for Neuralgia Arches
The dull throbbing of neuralgia is quickly relieved by Sloan's Liment,
the universal remedy for pain. Easy to apply; it quickly penetrates without rubbing and soothes the sore
muscles. Cleaner and more promptly effective than many plaster or ointment; does not stain the skin or clog the pores. For stiff muscles,
chronic rheumatism, gout, lumbago,
sprains and strains it gives quick relief. Sloan's Liment reduces the inflammation and inflammation in insect bites, bruises, bumps and other minor injuries to children. Get it today at your Druggist, 25c.

COAST TO COAST TOURISTS IN LIMA

Fred Fansythe and his wife together with Frank King, who are
on their last lap of their third coast
to coast trip are stopping in Lima today to give the people a lecture on natural history.

They are not hoofing it or riding
on horseback, but are touring the country in an automobile, in which is displayed many old relics from Alaska. The car is a special equipped one costing over $5,000. It will be on display at the public square
this evening and a small admission
will be charged to see the educating attraction.

The aim of the trio is to stop in every town on their route that amounts to anything in size. They were in Lima two years ago. Fansythe is a life member of the B. P.

BIBLICAL MOTION PICTURES RESUMED AT FIRST CONG.

Popular sermons by the Rev.
Chester S. Bucher at the First Congregational church which are illustrated by Biblical motion pictures,
will be resumed Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock.

A series of pictures and sermons
will be given on "Joseph's Trials in Egypt" from his boyhood days when he is sold by his brethren, to his triumph at Pharaoh's court. The pictures are beautifully tinted and so realistic that they caused great excitement at a Methodist camp meeting near Chicago the other day. During the showing of the pictures a large dog created excitement there
by rushing through the meeting
growing and barking. At first he was believed to be mad, until he reached the motion picture screen
portraying "Joseph's Trials in Egypt." There he tried to attack a sheep dog that was in the picture.
He was captured and chased out of the meeting.

This series of pictures is shown
free at the Sunday evening services
here.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to express our sincere
gratitude to our friends and relatives who so kindly assisted us during the illness and death of our beloved wife and mother. Also, to the Rev. Hoernemann and the quartette, whose sermon and songs respectively were especially comforting.

TRAMPS BLAMED FOR $300,000 FIRE

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 16.—
Tramps sleeping in an unoccupied
building are believed to have started
a fire here today which caused a loss
estimated at $300,000.

The fire originated in an empty
building in the wholesale district.
Fanned by a brisk wind it spread rapidly, driving the guests of two hotels from their beds and threatening the entire wholesale district.

One building was completely destroyed and half a dozen others
were damaged before the flames
could be gotten under control.

TYPHOID CASES LAID TO GARFIELD ARE SPRING WATER

"There is no doubt in the minds
of either physicians or ourselves
as to what is the nature of the illness of my two sons, Crittenton and Edmund Taylor," said E. B. Taylor of 722 West Spring street, to the Times-Democrat yesterday afternoon. "Both children have typhoid fever. There is no such ailment as ptomaine poison connected with it,
and a newspaper who used that account knew better." Mr. Taylor went on to say, He branded the article as ridiculous and an effort to be sensational.

He said his children had been ill
from typhoid fever for over two weeks and their cases had so been reverted to the health office. He said Russell Dempster, the small son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Dempster of 616 West Spring street, was stricken with typhoid fever early this week.
The children played on Garfield
avenue and drank from a spring
there, near Baxter street. Mr. Taylor said more than a week ago this water was pronounced unsatisfactory
for drinking purposes. He believes the contagion came from that drinking water. The Taylor children are recovering nicely, the father stated.

BILLY SUNDAY IS STIRRING DETROIT

Friends and admirers of the Rev.
William A. Sunday, who conducted a revival here five years ago last winter, learn of his present success
at Detroit, where he began an eight weeks' campaign last Sunday. Over 40,000 people heard him deliver his three initial sermons in the great Wolverine state metropolis and each evening this week thousands are being turned away from the meetings.
It is estimated that on Thursday
evening when he delivered his famous sermon on "Home" more than six thousand persons were unable to gain admission. A number of Lima people will attend the meetings for a few days later in the campaign.

IN MEMORIAM.

When the lifeless form of Lucinda
E. Churchhill, wife of J. R. Churchhill, was born by her loving sons and
grandsons to its last resting place
in beautiful Woodlawn cemetery was
it the last that shall be known of this noble woman.

While our hearts are burdened
with the thought that she will be amongst us no longer in person, yet
what a tender and cherished memory we shall have of her as the days
roll on into years.

The influence of such a life cannot
end with the grave! No man or woman of the humblest sort can, really
be strong, gentle, pure and good
without the world being better for
it; without somebody being helped
and comforted by it.

She, when but a young girl, gave her heart to God and her hand to the church and with cheerfulness did
her little part in God's great work.
Can one perform more noble service?
Her kindly deeds; her sunny disposition, cheery voice and laughing
eyes won for her many friends whom she valued as choice gifts and of whom she was ever thoughtful.

Could one be more loyal as friend
and neighbor?

She loved life and its duties but
the chief aim of her ambition and
the end toward which her daily
tasks and efforts tended was
"Home the spot of earth supremely
blest
A dearer, sweeter spot than all the rest.

In this sacred domain, as wife and mother she performed her part bravely, cheerfully, completely, and well deserves the crown which is her reward.

Even in her lingering illness, when
we missed the laughter from her eyes and the usual cheer from her voice, in hours of distress she was patient and grateful for all kindnesses and to life's close was interested in loved ones and in things of life, yet thoughtful of the life beyond.

Oh, that each of us might have such a long and useful life and as death draws near to have the sweet
confiding faith which was hers.
"I would not seek to know God's
"when"
For he doth not reveal to men:
The hour of His own will
I would not seek to know God's
"why"
